GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Tilden's "Golden Chance."

NEW YORK, Feb 5—Mr Springer of the Potter committee says: Gov Tilden has not been subpenaed and I have my doubts whether he will be. This however does not make any material difference for in any case we shall give him an opportunity of appearing before the committee, and it is not likely that he will miss the golden chance. I know him right.

A Murder and its Speedy Revenge.

CHICAGO, Feb 5—A terrible double tragedy occurred at Wrightsville a village in southern Illinois on Monday night. Charles L. McAuliffe, a physician, invited his wife and her brother Mr Heavener into his drug store and after drinking with Heavener shot him dead with a shot gun. The doctor fled but was found by constables, but before they could get him to jail an infuriated mob of sixty persons seized him and hung him to the limb of a tree.

Rumor of Disaster.

BOSTON, Feb 5—There is a general inquiry at the navy yard owing to the rumor that the steamer Richmond, which sailed from Brooklyn about three weeks ago, had foundered.

A Steamer Missing.

Cattle for England.

Notwithstanding the expectation that England may prohibit the importation of American cattle two steamships hence this week for London, take 350 head.

Russia's Woe America's Gain.

NEW YORK, Feb 5—There is much discussion on produce exchange and in financial circles as to the effect likely to be produced on the business interests of this country by the ravages of the plague in southern Russia. The establishment of a military cordon around the infected districts, and the measures being taken by European powers for preventing the spread of the disease, are spoken of as laying an embargo on the export of Russian grain and other products. The dread of the plague in infected districts is also thought likely to prevent the sowing of seed for a future crop. These elements of the situation were thoroughly canvassed, and as far as yet observed the opinion on 'change seems general, that from these troubles will spring an extraordinary European demand for cereals of the United States, and cause a consequent rise in prices and a brisk and profitable business in their transportation from the west to the seaboard and to Europe.

Another Indian Outrage.

OMAHA, Feb 5—News was received here to-day that Mr. Moorehead and three other cattle men were killed by Indians on the Upper Niobrara ranges, Northwestern Nebraska, January 27th, and that 89 head of cattle were run off.

The Southern Pacific.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—A story is current on creditable authority that the Southern Pacific Railroad, instead of being pressed forward across Texas, is to be rapidly pushed southward to Tubac, Mexico, and thus reach and control the large Mexican trade. This tends to confirm the rumor that the Southern and Texas Pacific railroad interests have been compromised and harmonized. The foregoing, however, is not given by authority.

The Mint Directorship.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb 5—It is now definitely understood that Col Snowden has declined the directorship of the U S mint.

The Widows and Orphans of the Slain.

FORT ROBINSON, Neb, Feb 5—To day 21 Cheyenne prisoners consisting of 7 bucks and 14 women and children, guarded by two companies of the 3d cavalry, under Capt Vroom, left for Sidney en route to Leavenworth.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Favorable Reports of Oregon Bills.

WASHINGTON, Feb 4—The senate military affairs committee to day reported favorably on a bill for payment to the state of Oregon the amount expended by the authorities and citizens in aid of the suppression of the Modoc war, with an amendment reducing the total amount from $223 000 to about $180 000.

The same committee also took favorable action to-day on a bill to appropriate $50,000 for improvement of the military wagon road between Scottsburg and Camp Stewart, Or, and referred it to the committee on appropriations with a recommendation for its incorporation in one of the general appropriation bills.

The committee also agreed to recommend the passage of the bill giving the court of claims jurisdiction of the claim of Robert Dunbar, for losses occasioned by breach of contract on the part of government regarding the possession and care of buildings on Port Orford military reservation.

Charge against Robeson's Naval Administration.

Representative Whitthorne, chairman of the house committee on naval affairs, to day read a report prepared by him for the signatures of a majority of the committee relative to investigation of the navy department under the administration of Secretary Robeson. The report charges that under Robeson's administration the navy department was greatly mismanaged and calls the attention of the president to the fact, and leaves further procedure in the affair to his direction.

A Compromise.

A rumor is current that the Texas Pacific and California Southern Pacific Railroad Companies have agreed upon a compromise and will jointly urge the passage of a new bill providing satisfactorily for the interests of both.

U. S. Officers Resisted.

WASHINGTON, Feb 4—A report to the internal revenue office from Collector Clark at Atlanta Ga, gives an account of the whisky raid in Cherokee county, of that state in which the U S officers were fired upon by a party in ambush and several, including the guides, wounded.

INVESTIGATING THE CIPHERS.

The Sub-Committee Taking Evidence in New York—Interesting Testimony.

NEW YORK, Feb 5—The Potter sub committee to investigate the cipher dispatches began work to day and expect to conclude the special work on Saturday.

Smith M. Weed of New York was the first witness and testified to going to North Carolina under instructions received at the Everett House. Had a cipher which he used from both South and North Carolina; destroyed the key and copies of dispatches but thought those published in the New York Tribune were nearly correct. Met Cox in South Carolina; at Columbia met Wade Hampton and others; it was admitted that the state had gone against the interest of the Democrats; was asked to furnish money and telegraphed to New York asking if money could be furnished. Dispatches between myself and Henry Havemeyer were the only ones I sent. Finally an arrangement or rather a definite proposition was handed me saying that for $60 000 or $80 000 the South Carolina canvassing board would make things all right for the Democrats. I had not, as has been stated, telegraphed that the state had gone for Hayes. I positively declined to receive the proposition made by the canvassing board to hand the state over to the Democrats.

CANADA.

Sitting Bull's Whereabouts.

OTTAWA, Feb 4—The Free Press says the stories in American papers about Sitting Bull having crossed over from the Canadian side of the boundary are purely imaginary. From private information in our possession Sitting Bull is camped at Frenchman's creek at Deadwood mountain 20 miles north of the boundary line.

Canada and the Cattle Prohibition.

TORONTO, Feb 5—The cattle trade with England is at a standstill. The decision of the British government as to scheduling the United States as an infected country is looked for with anxiety. Should the decision be favorable to the states the Canadian government will have to undo what they have done in prohibiting for the space of three months the importation of American cattle into Canada, or their passage through any part of the dominion. If this is not done the effect will be to send all trade to United States ports during that period.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

California's Wheat Crop.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 5—Crop reports from all parts of the state show that in the southern counties, and in all coast counties indications favor a fine crop. San Joaquin valley prospects bad especially in the upper portion. Santa Clara valley will likely produce much less than average. Sacramento valley will probably be not up to the average. The foothills generally promise a good yield.

Silver was walking down street when he met and passed Alvarez and had proceeded but a few steps when Alvarez called out Antonio, when the latter turned around and received a bullet wound in the body. Joaquin was arrested on Tuesday and lodged in the Mariposa jail, around which a strong guard is kept to prevent the Chowchilla Rangers from taking him out and lynching him.

There was no insurance on the Masonic hall. The fire was caused by an explosion in Barracco's store. It is not known what caused the explosion.

JUST ONE QUESTION.

SALEM, Feb 5, 1879.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

There is a rumor afloat that perhaps matters at the penitentiary while Mr Watkinds was superintendent, were run pretty much in the same way that the land matters were under Col Cann. In Watkinds' explanation of matters connected with the penitentiary he refers to transactions with Walter Jackson who was claimed to be a partner of Watkinds in a contract for labor of convicts while Watkinds was superintendent. It is reported that when Jackson closed his business as contractor, he owed a balance of some $400 to the state, and that Watkinds directed Jackson to pay the amount to Gov Grover. Jackson did so (through his clerk, Gilbert) and took Grover's receipt for the money. There is a suspicion that the state treasury has not yet been enriched to the amount of that payment. Yet it is claimed that the money was paid to Grover as long ago as 1876. As Watkinds has declared his intention to retire from the newspaper controversy it is perhaps impertinent to ask this question, but the people would like him to reconsider his resolution just long enough to answer this question, viz: Did Jackson pay Grover the money and has the money been paid into the state treasury, and if so where and by whom was it so paid in?

ALASKA.

Report of W. G. Morris on the Condition of this Neglected Territory.

Her Resources Intelligently Set Forth and Common Sense Measures Recommended for her Relief.

Secretary Sherman's Views on the Report and the Situation.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, Feb 5—The report on Alaska made by Major William Gouverneur Morris, special agent of the treasury department was received in the senate from the secretary of the treasury to-day and ordered to be printed. It is a lengthy document comprising at least a thousand pages of manuscript, and is copiously illustrated with maps and sketches of the country. The report is very comprehensive and presents a great number of details regarding the resources of the territory, tending to show that it is very far from a worthless country. Major Morris reports that there is ample evidence of the existence of rich mines of gold silver and copper in Alaska although their precise location is not given. He furnishes an extended description of valuable fisheries and timber resources of the territory. Considerable space is devoted to the subject of the disputed boundary line between Alaska and British Columbia and after reporting a mass of information on the subject the suggestion is made that congress should take necessary steps to settle the dispute with Great Britain by means of a joint commission. The present chaotic condition of affairs in Alaska is fully set forth and the establishment of some sort of civil government for the territory is earnestly advocated.

Figures are presented to show that the U S government now receives annually from the Alaska Commercial Company an amount equal to more than four per cent upon the original cost of the territory which was $7,200 000. The conduct of affairs by this company is in general terms commended, and in the absence of specific proof it is acquitted of any organized attempt to retard the settlement and development of the territory. The cost of maintaining customs service in Alaska since it was first established is shown to have been only fifty per cent more than the receipts, and as the customs district was created for purposes of general protection and not of local revenue the proposition for its discontinuance is pronounced unwise. Major Morris urges the construction of a new vessel for the revenue marine service on the Pacific coast there being at present not one which is adapted for extended cruises in Alaskan waters. Many interesting facts are given concerning the Indian tribes of the coast and interior. As regards the former an opinion is expressed that they should be kept under control not by the military, but by means of big gunboats, of which they stand in great dread. In conclusion Morris warmly eulogizes efforts of the Board of Presbyterian Home Missions to introduce schools and teachers in the territory, and congress is urged to aid in this laudable and Christian enterprise.

Secretary Sherman's Opinion.

Secretary Sherman, in his letter transmitting to the senate a copy of Maj. Morris report on Alaska, remarks that portions of it indicate the necessity for the adoption of some legislation for the better protection of the inhabitants of the territory and preservation of law and order as well as the necessity for some system of land records by which titles of real estate in Alaska may be perfected. Maj Morris throughout his report assumes the position of a champion of Alaska and asserts that many important facts concerning that country have been hitherto unknown, or if known have been utterly misrepresented to the general public. He takes direct issue with Special Agent Henry W Elliott, and charges that Elliott misrepresented a large portion of Alaska which he, Elliott, had never visited and of which he was profoundly ignorant. There is likely to be a large demand for this report when published.

Lecture on Alaska.

NEW YORK, Feb 5—Rev Sheldon Jackson lectured yesterday on Alaska before the ladies of the Presbyterian board of missions urging the establishment of a woman's home at Fort Wrangel and asking $3 500; $1 000 was subscribed.

The house went into committee of the whole on the army appropriation bill. The number of aides de camp to which a general of the army shall be entitled was increased from three to four.

Whyte offered as an amendment to bill substantially the bill known as the army reorganization bill.

Hale rose to a point of order against the amendment. The chairman could only look to the operation of the amendment during the year that the appropriation bill covered and if there was anything in the bill which might result in an increase of expenditures during coming year it must clearly be ruled out of order. There was a proposition in the amendment which allowed officers to retire with three years pay and that clearly brought it in antagonism to rule 120.

The point of order was antagonized by Sayler and others.

The chairman stated that the amendment did come within the spirit of the rule. While it was doubtless new legislation it was in the direction of reduction of expenditures and therefore he overruled the point of order.

Banning further read the amendment. He moved that the committee rise in order that the amendment might be printed. This was opposed by Garfield and other Republicans who wished to have a vote taken at once, but it was agreed to—yeas 1?? nays ?? Adjourned.

THE "DEBATE" CONTINUES.

Out of the discussion of the report made by the legislative committee a rich and varied literature is springing up which promises to do great honor to our state. The latest is the following, which we take from the Salem Statesman. "Jurassic nightmare" and other epithets are good. As for the allegory, we leave that to the judgment of the general reader.

"On Stanley" on! —But hold a minute before you go too far on. Give us the name you bore before coming to Oregon.—Mercury.

We have made inquiries of persons who are supposed to know and from what we learn there is little doubt that before he came to Oregon his name was De Jones. He was a Corsair.—Ir.

Well thereby hangs a tale. I can sympathize with the consuming curiosity of inquiring mind and therefore will give the first chapter of the thrilling narrative. The story will contain from five to fifty chapters which will be given as they may be called for. After quitting the sea I engaged with a party whose name is of no consequence as it was probably a borrowed one—to edit a Democratic weekly newspaper. We located in the capital city of a flourishing state. The name of either is not pertinent to the subject matter of this story. We prospered. It is not necessary to enter into detail. The conduct of a Democratic weekly newspaper and the life of its editor is about the same in Maine as in Texas, in Florida as in Oregon.

We had numerous friends. Our paper was the especial champion of all the ruffians, thieves and outlaws in the country.

We defended the red handed murderer with the same zest and zeal as the public officer who used his official position to systematically plunder the state.

By this course we placed ourselves at the head of the lawless and ruffianly element that existed in every city and under our skillful management it became such a power in local politics that decent people were compelled to sacrifice their property and leave the town. By controlling this element in the convention and making a treacherous compromise we dictated the nomination of state printer, and then we demanded of him a large sum of money—some six hundred dollars—and a contract for the printing as the price of our support. Without our support defeat was inevitable so he accepted. He was elected and we did the printing. When it was finished an expert appointed for the purpose came to measure it and by a liberal use of bad whisky, cigars and [illegible] holding, we so bewildered, muddled and deceived him that we got his certificate to our own measurement. By this little transaction we not only swindled the state out of from ten to twenty thousand dollars but forever blasted the reputation of a broken printer who possessed many agreeable qualities.

I will not attempt in this brief chapter to enumerate the various ways in which by pandering to the lowest passions of the base and vile we succeeded in launching the community and making our paper a by word and reproach. But there comes a time at last in the life of every man who edits a Democratic weekly newspaper when his name becomes so atrociously infamous that the sound of it or the sight of it written or printed becomes unendurable even to himself. Sometimes he jumps the country and by changing his name endeavors to escape from the Nemesis of memory. More frequently he takes to whisky and steeps remorse in the oblivion which he invokes. This subject usually finishes on strychnine. Here is a good place to end this chapter.

If the jurassic nightmare that presides—like the [illegible] over the evil fortunes of the Journal—will only [illegible] on this little allegory and govern himself by the moral it suggests, I shall feel that it was not written in vain. A [illegible] disinterested party I would recommend [illegible]

CHADWICK'S TESTIMONY.

A MEDLEY OF CONTRADICTION AND EQUIVOCATION.

Pressed by Interrogations he Evades and Declines to Answer.

Further Revelations for the People of Oregon of the Manner in which Their Business is Transacted.

[illegible] Chadwick called and [illegible] in regard to [illegible] as here [illegible] to the legislature and proceeded to testify as follows, to wit:

This matter of Walker you want to know about. I suppose I first saw Mr Walker here in 18[illegible]. I think in Salem; I won't be positive whether it was in the spring of [illegible] or [illegible] months. I was somewhere about that time in the [illegible] representing himself to be a land agent who had been engaged in business in California and during the time he was here he had procured from the swamp land files quite a number of them under contracts. I understood he had an interest in them and if he would perfect their titles. He claimed to have parties in California who were to furnish the means to obtain the title. He got certified copies of the filings from the office. He exhibited his release or assignments and gave the board notice of his interest in these papers. I think he obtained also in that connection certified copies of all the filings. He obtained I think, a statement in regard to the number of acres on which the 20 per centum had been paid. The understanding from the clerk (Mr Cann) and from the books and papers in the office is that there was at that time that amount paid in cash and in deposits applicable. The money then in his hands was not credited up for a few days afterwards and the entries that he then regarded as cash to be paid in when required made more than that amount. Now whether that was correct or not I won't swear positively but that was the understanding from the books. Mr Walker came here as I supposed in good faith for his partners engaged with him and those who were to procure the title. These men had confided in him for that purpose and perhaps the courtesies of the office were not so restricted as they might have been under other circumstances. But we were assured by those who knew Mr Walker that he was acting in good faith and that the title would be obtained to the land and that we would realize the benefit and that it would bring into the [illegible] a large amount of money. That was the object. I had. I thought that would be the result of his labors and there was no hesitation that I know of in affording Mr Walker and those associated with him all the information that was to be had in the office at that time. There was not much of his time spent in Salem. Most of his time was I think spent in Eugene City looking after his interests there. I didn't consider that the courtesies of the office were extended to Mr Walker alone in hardly any particular. They were to the parties he represented, both here and in California. The transcript of the records and filings I believe I copied for Mr Cann. There is one of these certificates in my handwriting. But the certificate of the payment of the 20 per centum I don't know that may be in my handwriting but my impression is that the certificate I made is the one in my handwriting and I can't remove it without seeing the papers. There was no intention or thought of inserting more than was taken on the papers. If there was any effort to deceive we might just as well have set 100 000 acres as 150 000. I think you will find by the books that the cash run up very nearly to that amount twenty six or twenty seven thousand. I think the deposit etc, over that. This can be explained when you get at the books. It might just as well have been 100 000 if the clerk hadn't supposed it would be safe to say 150 000 acres. Twenty five or fifty thousand didn't make any difference in the statement, because all he wanted was simply what was on our books. We gave no paper to go to the public for any use whatever. All he obtained I was for his partners in California who were to do the work of getting this title and get their pay out of the land. I don't know whether that covers the testimony of Mr Cann or not fully. I have not read the testimony and could not say. I endeavor to give the transaction as I understand.

Q You believe everything done then was done in good faith for the object named? A. I know it was as far as I was done and because I had no reason to suppose anything wrong with Mr Walker.

Q I understand by you that this was a receipt for money that other parties had paid into the office that was on file. A Yes sir.

Q You understand here was $30,000 paid to that time? A Yes that much paid by other parties.

Q There had been $30 000 paid? A. Well that was the estimate made from the books.

Q Do I understand you to say that you looked over the books—examined the books and that I [illegible]? A No I didn't examine the books. Cann must have prepared an abstract from the books. I state I didn't know anything about it from the books. That is one reason why I wanted Cann present. I would refer him to be present.

Q I understand from your statement here that this receipt was given for the amount not paid by Walker but paid by other parties, that is on the basis that $30 000 had been paid by parties represented by Walker. A It was not intended as a receipt; it was a certificate of the fact simply as it existed at that time.

Q That existed at that day. Was $30,000 paid in at that time on those lands in which Walker claim a one third interest? A Yes I understand it was paid in; that it was available in the manner I have stated.

Q Was that receipt a correct receipt? A Well it was. There may have been a little difference. I think you will now have reason to think from the records at that time that amount was available.

Q Was it not an easy matter to know exactly the amount? A I suppose, as I said before there was no necessity to [illegible] and [illegible] there was no object in making the amount 150 000 acres.

Q What do I understand you to mean by tender? A When a person tenders money and we refuse to take it he would sometimes prefer to have it remain and we keep it until we ascertain the [illegible] of the land. That is what I mean.

Q Did you regard this as a sufficient payment for the issuance of this receipt? A Well I will tell you Mr Thompson. We had occasion to expect that Walker would have that money within a year. There is only a few dollars difference in the amount if you throw these out. I give you the surroundings as they exist.

Q Then on this land that Walker represented the 20 per centum had been paid to within three four five or six thousand dollars. A I would not say that because I think it amounts to more than that. According to what I understand it amounts to that. I don't think there is $2,000 difference without the tenders.

Q Have you any memoranda of the date or copy of that certificate so that we may know what the receipt is? A I have what purports to be a copy but I don't know whether it is a copy or not. I could not say without examining the original.

Q You have an abstract recollection of giving a certificate to Walker that the amount paid in by parties of whom he had bought these filings would amount to $30 000 or somewhere near that in which he had a one third interest? A [illegible] one third interest. I don't know which. He had a half interest, anyhow. I don't know whether a third or half interest. That you see is the difference of talking without the original paper.

Q Tenders that would be the moneys paid in [illegible] and which were afterwards [illegible] A Yes sir. That was [illegible] in [illegible] class. There was $1 [illegible] belonging to the [illegible] at the time which was applicable to the [illegible] per cent which was drawn in [illegible] and [illegible] John B Miller which he paid in five days afterwards and a good many others of that kind which figure up to the amount of over $9 [illegible]

Q A good deal of these tenders was drawn out was it not? A Yes sir. Well there were certificates; the board made an order that the parties should have the privilege of drawing the money and they were notified by the board and then they should have these statements or orders treated as cash.

Q Was you warranted to draw this certificate that $30 000 was paid in when it was not paid in? A Well Mr Galloway, my recollection is this: that was made up and estimated and it might be sixty or 110,000 acres. It might just as well have said 150 000 acres but that was the estimate.

Q The question I understand Mr Galloway to ask is was the amount paid in up to that time? Was that amount sufficient to warrant you in issuing that certificate? A Well I don't know about that, taking the amount paid in.

Q (By Mr Galloway)—Mr Chadwick understand my question. Did the amount which had been paid in warrant you at the time you gave the certificate in giving this certificate? A Well that is the explanation I have made. I think it was.

Q I don't understand this explanation. I would like to have this question answered directly. You are [illegible] to understand the [illegible] an important document. A Yes sir.

[illegible]

Q When this certificate was given to Mr Walker [illegible] [illegible] in what was in that certificate? A Well I can't answer that sir.

Q Well then is it true that you wrote the certificate and afterwards certified that Cann as clerk of the board of commissioners and presented it to Mr Cann to sign it? A I can't answer which. I wrote that certificate or not. I have no recollection that Cann ever refused to sign any paper that was ever presented to him.

Q He didn't refuse at first to sign this certificate? A Not that he didn't. I have asked Mr Cann ever to do it. Mr Walker paid him any money. I [illegible] on [illegible] understanding. I [illegible] Cann and myself [illegible] paid to [illegible].

Q By Mr Galloway—The question is whether [illegible] the amount that was actually paid [illegible] per centum in the land [illegible]. Please answer yes or no. A [illegible] the original. I [illegible] It has been stated the paper is in my writing. I don't know whether it is or not. I have never pressed anybody to sign any paper that I know of. I would willingly answer the question if I had that certificate here.

Q Do you remember anything about every having signed any such certificate as that of Mr Cann or such a certificate? A Oh I didn't sign it at all. I only certified to the authority of the clerk of the board. Walker got several certificates of that kind in reference to the various businesses he had with the clerk. But this certificate you speak of was signed by the clerk. I would like to see the original.

Q Did Cann as clerk of the board sign a certificate to the purport that 20 per cent on 150 000 acres of land had been paid to the board? A Upon that point I would reserve the same right I would upon the other.

Q Do you know whether he did or not? A My impression is that he did. But I have got it in my mind in a different shape from any of them. I think he certified that he had in his evidence to day. I thought it was to a list of the filings.

Q Didn't you sign a certificate that Cann was clerk of the board and that the above certificate was true and correct as shown in his certificate? A No you have got no certificate of that kind. I have certified that he was clerk of the board and was authorized to transact the business of the board or something of that kind. That is one thing but no particular part of the business in the papers to which they are attached. I don't know but I can, the original. If I can I will.

Q Didn't you ever sign a certificate like this:

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE, November 29, 18 [illegible]

I hereby certify that T H Cann is secretary of the board of school land commissioners and that the same [illegible] with the seal of the state affixed? A Exactly that is about the certificate, but that don't say anything about the business to which it is attached.

Q When you gave that certificate didn't you give it with a knowledge of the contents of the certificate that was signed by T H Cann of even date? A I might have done that certainly.

Q I ask you if when you gave that certificate you didn't give it with the knowledge of what the certificate that Cann signed of even date contained? A Well, Mr Chairman I will say this that if—as the original is not here—if Cann signed that certificate I gave with it a certificate that he had authority.

Q I will ask you another question. Didn't you take this certificate that Cann signed to him for his signature? A Well I don't remember of ever doing that sir.

Q I will ask another question then. Were you in the habit of taking certificates of that character to Cann for his signature? A No that is not a custom. Cann dealt directly as clerk of the board with customers in his office and papers were brought to me generally for certificates.

Q I will ask you did you or Mr Cann give these certificates, one of the clerk of the school board and the other certificate of the secretary of state. Did you give them to Walker or did Cann do it? A That I cannot state. I don't remember. It was not an extraordinary business. It was the common business of the office. It was five years ago and I can't remember about that. I know very well as I have said to you before that everything was done in good faith. It was no material interest to us and you can imagine for yourselves gentlemen I suppose how this would be done. You can imagine the surroundings, the great effort to get this work done.

Q (By Mr Galloway) I could understand better if you would answer questions directly to your knowledge. A I do Mr Galloway. I can't swear positively to a paper that was taken so long ago. I don't think it would be right to require it. That paper is said to be in my hand writing but it don't agree with my recollection of the matter.

Q Did you have full knowledge of the transactions of that board? A Oh yes sir, yes sir, whenever I was present I did of course and I was present most of the time.

Q Then I would ask you if the report as submitted to the legislature in 1874 was a true exhibit of the showing of that office? A I don't think the—I don't think that report contains all the money that was paid into the office from 1870 up to that time that is my recollection. The money reported in 187[illegible] up to that time September 1872 I think what was reported up to September 1872 was for some reason omitted. Now I have this impression with me that that was omitted in that. It was not necessary to report that as it had been reported once before. I would like to get that report Mr Chairman and when examined on that go through that and make it more intelligible to my mind and to the committee. It is a matter of importance, and I would like to explain the matter fully.

Q (By Galloway) I would like to ask this question. Have you not stated since the publication of Mr Cann's testimony that Cann never signed that receipt, that certificate? A No I said that Cann never signed a receipt for money. It was a certificate I said.

Q What is the difference between a certificate and a receipt? A Well a receipt is a receipt for money a plain statement that a man has received something that every man may understand. My idea of the certificate was this that it certified to a certain fact that existed at that time.

Q I understand this that the certificate was that money had been paid in? A Yes.

Q Didn't you state that Cann never signed it? A Oh no. I have always contended that it was a receipt.

Q Well the same one that Cann certified to? A I presume I have. Mr Cann never signed that. I am [illegible] that impression entirely because Mr Cann always told me he never signed a receipt for money.

Q Do you consider Cann a competent book-keeper—competent and trustworthy? A I think Cann is trustworthy; yes sir.

Q Competent? A Well, he keeps his books in an intelligible way.

Q Well, answer the question directly. A Well I don't consider him a fully competent book keeper, if it is according to the rules of book keeping but I believe Mr Cann to be an honest man honest in his accounts with the state in that matter.

Q This receipt matter. When you sent that receipt certifying that Cann was clerk of the board on the same date of the certificate that is when your certificate was dated the same day with Cann's was it not intended to give force to that certificate given by Cann to Mr. Walker that the $30,000 had been paid? A No more force than the receipt would give. I have told you gentlemen that what was done was done [illegible] Walker to give to his partners to assist in getting the title to this land.

Q Walker was a stranger to you? A Yes sir; he appeared to well accredited and I thought that what he was doing would be a good thing for the state.

Q I don't regard the answer you gave to the former question as being direct. The question was as I understand was it not intended when you gave your certificate in view of the one Cann had given was it not intended to give force to that one? A No sir not by me it was not.

Q Was it intended to convey the idea that his receipt was correct? Was it intended to have that force while not showing additional force to it, [illegible] that it would convey the idea that his receipt was correct? Was it not intended for that purpose? A Not by me. It was not intended so.

Q What was the idea in giving it? A Well to show Cann's authority as clerk.

Q Would it not that give additional force to it? Would it not prove the money was paid? A That is your conclusion. I can only state what the fact was.

Q Did not your certificate give his certificate additional force so that his might be [illegible] of the state? A I never thought anything about that. I simply gave it as a matter of course.

Q What was the object then of giving this receipt to Walker? A The object simply was this: He requested it Mr Thompson to show to his partners. Wanted to show his standing in regard to these assignments. That is all there was in it and there was the evidence. We supposed it [illegible] [illegible] If I [illegible] [illegible] I don't think we ought to be [illegible] for it.

Q This seal of the secretary of state attached to this certificate? A Oh of course.

Q [illegible] that R M Walker [illegible]

[illegible]

Q According to the statement of the board [illegible] the commissioners [illegible] the 5th October [illegible] there had been received [illegible]

I presume that is a correct result. A Oh no that is not correct.

That is the amount received since the 5th of October 18[illegible]? A. Well that may be correct. That is the point the chairman was making a little while ago.

Q Is there any printed report of the board of commissioners for 18[illegible]? A There was a special [illegible] printed report in 187[illegible].

Q Is that on file in your office? A There was very few copies printed and they are out of print I think unless they are in the messages and documents. I have one Mr Chairman. I have gotten [illegible] for the session of 187[illegible]. I [illegible] teen weeks before Mr Walker got his papers I suppose Mr Cann's books will show that the money was principally clerk of the board. The [illegible] and business—I might as well explain now it was conducted. If the committee want it I will explain it.

Q It is scarcely necessary to do that because we have the records before us. A The question was asked him. The statement was made that no money was paid in during 1871 and 1872.

Q I understand you wished to be called before the committee so as to explain this Walker matter and we wished to give you that opportunity this morning, and then the committee would adopt their own course. We are not putting any man on trial. It is only to find the condition of these matters and because Cann having made these statements concerning matters with which you are perfectly conversant, we wished to give you a chance at your own request to explain that. I would ask you just one more question. Whether Grover or Fleischner were informed in regard to these receipts to Walker and his employment in any way? A. I think they understood the protest or the notice of Walker to the board that he had these assignments but whether they knew anything about his getting certified copies of the transcript of the filings of the office I don't know but I think did.

Q About the receipt? A Well, I don't know. They might, or might not. I don't know.

Q It was a matter not complained of to your knowledge in the board? A No I think not.

Q Did Gov Grover and Fleischner as members of the board have any knowledge of the contents or know anything about these receipts or their contents when they were given? A Well I can't answer. I said I didn't know my impression is that they did not at the time. I can't tell gentlemen, there was no privacy about the thing; there was no secret about it; the object for which Walker wanted the papers was no secret at all.

Q Had you authority to do such business outside the knowledge of the board—authority to give the certificate? A Well it was intended merely as a transcript like any other.

Q That is not an answer to the question. A Well it was done outside the board meeting simply as any other matter.

Q Did you have authority to authorize the giving of this receipt purporting to certify that 20 per cent on the 150 000 acres had been paid? A. Oh, I think so, there is no need of a rule of the board my impression is that a certificate of the facts of record could be given without direction of the board, whatever they might be understood though, I never authorized the giving of such a receipt as you describe, I don't think there has ever been any difference of opinion between Cann and me in our views when we have conversed about this matter.

Q. There is a very important difference in your statements here. A. There is this about it, Cann never would have been pressed by me to sign any paper that he could not conscientiously sign.

Q Have you, since the publication of Mr Cann's statement, requested Mr Cann any time to make a retraction or modification of his statement? A Cann voluntarily told me that he would make one and I told him I would thank him for doing so.

Q. Answer the question yes or no? A Yes I think I have. I think I did at the time you called my attention to it before. Cann however expressed a willingness to do so at any time to make the necessary explanation.

Q. I asked about a retraction or modification? A. Not a retraction, but a modification. He has volunteered to do it himself.

Q. Did he volunteer this before you requested him to do it? Did he first come to you? A Well I will tell you how it was. I asked him how it happened he made these statements and then he stated that he would make the necessary corrections. That is the way it was exactly. That is all there is in the case. I was apprised of that and I spoke to him about it. I wish to say that so far as Mr Cann and myself are concerned the conversations we have had in regard to the matter that there has never been any misunderstanding. I have asked him over and over again if there was any receipt given for money and he told me there was not. He told me there was nothing done wrong and if we had been deceived he was sorry for it.

Q By Mr Galloway—Haven't you wished him to make a statement in the papers which he refused to have done? A [illegible]

D P Thompson—I think Mr. Galloway that is hardly a fair question for if such statements had been made about me I should have pressed Mr Cann to correct them if he had made such statements.

A. Since I heard about it I went to Mr Cann and asked him about it. He said he didn't have time to explain and would make a statement in the newspapers but I think you stopped him didn't you?

Mr Galloway—No sir, I didn't stop him, but I advised him if he had any regard for his family not to do it. He said the pressure had been so strong. A That is the excuse he made to me.

Further Statement.

The foregoing testimony was taken soon after the committee commenced its labors and under the excitement that prevailed at the time in reference to matters under consideration, and before I had seen the original 20 per cent. certificate given to Walker. Before the testimony was given I examined Mr Cann's books for the first time to learn if possible what I could in reference to them as related to this certificate. Mr Cann assisted me and the statement in that testimony in regard to the books relates to the examination I then made coupled with Mr Cann's explanations all of which took place since your committee has been in session. This testimony shows to some extent a confusion of understanding as to the certificates. Some answers refer to one and some to another. There were some three different certificates alluded to but not definitely mentioned because not then understood. Since then I have examined and find that the original certificate signed by Mr Cann is not in my handwriting. I wish to add now more specific denials of some of the statements of the clerk. I deny that I took this certificate to Mr Cann for his signature or that I urged him to sign it or that he signed it at my request or against his will. I deny that he stated that it would cause trouble etc. I have never urged Mr Cann to sign this or any other paper. The first time I have ever heard of this accusation is since Mr Cann has testified. This circumstance should have happened five years ago and Mr Cann has never complained to me that he had signed this or any other paper against his will or that he had signed a paper that was not correct. Within the past year and a half he has stated to me that there was no certificate out that was not correct in every particular. This statement formed the basis of the explanation I made to Gov Grover the past year. The certificate given by me was not given to add validity to the other certificate but merely to state the official character of the clerk. No papers were ever issued out of my office for the purpose of deceiving anybody. I also deny that I ever stated to Mr Cann that his certificate was a forgery. I did refer him to his statement that if a paper was other than he described it was a forgery and he would swear it. Mr Cann was clerk of the board by executive appointment. He kept his desk—of which he had sole charge—in one of the rooms of the state department. He was very careful about his books and papers. In his absence his cash books were locked within his desk and no one could obtain them or information from them without his assistance. Until 1876 he used a portion of the state safe for his receipts. He had exclusive use of the department and exercised the same care and protection over it as in the case of his own desk. SALUSHIN AND HIS CONFESSION.

FORT COLVILLE, Jan 20, 187[illegible]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Salushin one of the Perkins murderers just captured is a Cayuse Indian and has lived on the Umatilla reserve since a boy. He was brought here by Wm Granger and A L Thorpe—the former a brother in law of Perkins—from the Okanagan country and turned over to the county sheriff here and is at present in jail. He made a confession before H I Smith Jr at Okanagan—which covers seventeen pages of letter paper—in which he gives a lengthy description of the killing of Perkins and wife.

He says that the names of the Indians who were with him at the time of the killing [illegible]

CLERK CANN AGAIN.

CHADWICK'S LITTLE GAME OF DRAWING MONEY THROUGH CANN.

But Cann Swears that he Performed "No Service Whatever."

"Speculation" in the Board of State Land Commissioners—Grover's "West Portland Homestead Association" Again.

DECEMBER 16, 187[illegible]

T H Cann recalled:

Q Mr Cann were you assistant secretary of state from 1870 to 1874? A I never received an appointment. I drew the salary for Gov Chadwick as an accommodation to him.

Q Did you perform any service? A None whatever. Well I might have drawn a vouchers once or twice a while nothing to speak of.

Q Received no pay? A None at all.

Q How much money did you receive for your services as assistant secretary of state? A Well I didn't receive any.

Q. How much in warrants did you draw? A I could not tell without looking over. I drew warrants for Chadwick and whatever there was the reports will show. I could tell nothing about the amounts. I just drew the money for him.

Q. Did you give the money to Chadwick? A I would receive the money and generally put it in the vault where his money was. I didn't do the work; there were others who done the work.

Q Then you never received any pay as assistant secretary of state? A No sir. I drew it for him and handed it over to him.

Q Was there any agreement between you and him that you should receipt for the money and pay it to him? A I think I told you I drew it for him. You see he had somebody else to do the work and I told him I would draw the money for him.

Q Were you ever employed by Fleischner to purchase warrants for him? A Yes sir. Well I was not employed. He never paid me anything.

Q Were you ever requested or did you ever buy warrants for him? Yes sir.

Q. State what amounts and at what discount you bought them? A. Well I don't know the amount. The amount is in the neighborhood of $10 000 or $12,000 I think so. I bought them as cheap as I could.

Q. With whose money did you make those purchases? A. I could not say. Mr Fleischner gave me the money but I had an impression [illegible] Schlussel was a party in the matter.

Q Did S F Chadwick ever request you to make an affidavit that your signature on the certificate given to R M Walker or his signature either was a forgery? A He said nothing in reference to my signature. He showed me, or tried to show me, that the whole thing so far as my signing that was concerned, was a forgery.

Q Did he wish you to state under oath that it was? A He thought that I ought to correct my testimony.

Q. Implying that you should state it was a forgery. A. He said he thought it was a forgery. I recollected the circumstances and declined to do it.

Q Isn't it true that members of the board of school land commissioners had filings on school and other lands in the name of other individuals than themselves? A Well I declare I can't recollect about that. It may be that there were circumstances that I don't think of.

Q. Is it not true that members of the school board have filed on land in Coos and Curry counties in the name of other parties? A I don't know. They probably have. I would have to look over and see.

Q Have they not done so to your knowledge? A They possibly have.

Q Don't you know that they have? A. I know they filed on land. I know that.

Q Don't you know that they have in the names of other parties and the matter was brought to your attention, and that you were informed of it at the time? Answer yes or no. A Let me see. I was just thinking. I want to be correct about it. Well, I think they did but I could not tell whose names they were or anything about it.

Q Have members of the board asked you to file on land for them in the name of other parties, and did you do so at their request? A I don't remember now any such circumstances.

Q. You don't remember? A. I don't remember just now any such instances. There might be. If you know some person you could cite me to then maybe I could refresh my memory.

Q I want you to say so we can know without calling other parties. A Well, if you could tell me.

Q No I don't want to tell you. I want you to say didn't the members of the board of school land commissioners file on sixteen quarter sections of land four miles east of East Portland? A. Well it would be very hard for me to state.

Q But don't you know? A I know that Fleischner was interested; that is I think so.

Q Didn't he tell you so? A. I don't know that Fleischner ever told me. I think he was interested.

Q Was Gilfry interested and Chadwick? A Gilfry was interested. I don't know about Chadwick.

Q. Was Grover interested? A No sir, I was interested in buying a piece of land and paid a good price for it too.

Q Did you buy a block of land of the West Portland Homestead Association? A I purchased block No 66½ of Gov Grover, and paid him for it out of my own earnings.

A What did you pay him for that block of land? A I paid him $5 000.

Q Did you believe at that time it was worth $1 600? A I bought it, sir, simply to assist Gov Grover; that was my positive purpose; he desired helping a little.

Q Did you own stock in the West Portland Homestead Association? A. No sir, I don't think I did. He talked to me once about taking stock in it. I believe he issued me some stock, but I never paid for it and never took the stock. I didn't know anything about it.

Q Did you have any money transactions with Brown while he was state treasurer? A No I don't think I did.

Q Was there not what might be called a little ring immediately around the capital of persons holding positions in the state government? A Well I don't know what you call a ring.

Q Well persons filing on lands for speculation? A Well, they took up that land down there you alluded to.

Q Did they take up other lands? A. Well the land over in Curry county they didn't buy. They just simply filed on that. There might be one quarter section bought.

Q Were notifications ever filed with you on land, and did you know these notifications were filed for the purpose of speculation when no money was paid? A. Now there was lots of applications filed on which there was no money paid, and I may have thought it was for speculation, applications made by that crowd knowing they; I supposed they would pay for the land.

Q Did they pay for it? A. They did not. The land was not approved at that time.

Q Was not Gilfry sent east by the board for the purpose of getting those lands approved? A [illegible] he was sent to get those indemnity school lands and university lands approved before this. I want to say that in this I had no speculation. I know nothing about it. That is a matter of their own. I didn't know anything about it.

Q Where did you keep your office from 1870 until you moved into the capitol building? A [illegible] the secretary of state's office same room with him and the money was kept in his safe.

Q To which the assistant secretary of state had access? A Yes sir they had access to it.

Q Did you ever balance your accounts and compare them with the money? A In 187[illegible] Fleischman made up my report and my accounts and told me how much I should bring in to make it square and in 1871 I had J Henry Brown make up my report, and in 1876 Brown made it again and in 1878 I hired E O Norton to do it.

Q From whom did you hold your appointment? A From Gov Grover, Fleischner and Chadwick.

Q Did the board ever ask you to resign? A [illegible] sir.

Q Did Secretary Chadwick have access to your books? A My desk stood wide open all the time for anybody that belonged to the board to examine at all times.

Q Did you know of your own knowledge whether your cash was correct or not? A Well I have had a firm conviction that it was always have had because I have never stole anything never have myself and don't know that anybody else ever did. I didn't know positively myself.

LAW, JUSTICE AND SAFETY.

Have we any laws that are to be enforced? Or is our legal system with the penalties it prescribes a farce merely? As yet we do not know on what grounds Gov Thayer has respited the murderers Johnson and Brown. But if it has been done in response to the emotional appeal gotten up here by a few persons of the class whose feelings or rather whose palpitations take the place of judgment, he has wronged the community by his action. Nobody insists on enforcement of the law in these case because of a desire to take life. But there is a profound conviction that it is a necessity for the safety of the community. Justice too demands it. The utterly fatuous plea that there was no intention on the part of these men to kill deserves no answer. It is fit only for those soft and sappy people on whom the efforts of reason are forever wasted. A respite is granted our telegraphic report says till some time in March. If it be the intention of the governor to allow the enforcement of the penalty at that time the respite is a cruel prolongation of the torture of these condemned men. If it be his intention to commute the penalty or grant a pardon in the meantime he is trifling with the law and with the community. The respite will now be made the basis of a movement for commutation. Should the penalty be changed to imprisonment for life it would be less matter, were there any reason to suppose the criminals would be kept there for life. But they would not and they know it. Influences would be brought to bear which within a few years would effect their release. If the law be not enforced in this instance there should be no death penalty on our statute book. It should be erased altogether. This community will not know a more shocking crime than that which these men have perpetrated, and the salutary influence of the enforcement of the law is a thing greatly needed. Gov Thayer has shown weakness where it was supposed he was strong. The law of the case has been affirmed by our highest tribunal; the justice that should prevail proclaims itself with a voice most positive and clear, and the necessity of examples to strike terror into those who would rob and murder rather than earn an honest living, is felt by every right-thinking member of the community. These are highest of arguments. Are they to be set aside by appeals from that class whose reason invariably gives way to their emotions, backed by the other sort who have an affinity with crime and come instinctively to the defence of those whom justice overtakes? We know we are uttering the voice of this community in this protest against interference with the course of the law in the punishment of a most wanton crime. If the murder of that young boy perpetrated by these miscreants while in commission of another crime do not demand the severest penalty, pray, then in what conceivable case of murder should the penalty be enforced? While the memory of the murder was yet fresh, it was on every one's lips that so atrocious a crime could not possibly be expiated with a less penalty than death. What has been developed since to furnish any kind of excuse for the deed, or to deliver the perpetrators from their blood guiltiness? And above all, on what ground, or what pretence will any one undertake to show that the community does not require enforcement of the law to protect it against repetition of such deeds as that which startled it on that morning when an old man was struck down and robbed and an innocent boy was murdered by men who made deliberate choice of a life of crime? If we are simply intending the law as a scare crow, depend on it that scoundrels will find it out soon.

THE EASTERN PRESS AND THE CHINESE BILL.

The tone of the greater and more influential eastern journals seems on the whole to be one of hostility to the bill for restriction of Chinese immigration. Some criticise it with severity. Phases of the Chinese question as presented on the Pacific slope are not manifest to the eastern mind. The New York Tribune quotes Representative Townsend's declaration that the bill as drawn up will shut out from America one-half the human race and it hopes the senate will save the Democratic party from making a completely inconsistent record on the Chinese question. It declares that the Democratic majority in the house of representatives is the direct product of foreign immigration, and that such a party is grossly inconsistent in shutting out foreign peoples from our shores. The Herald discusses it thus: California opinion of the sort of which Kearney was the most vigorous exponent has made itself felt in the house by the passage of a bill to restrict the number of Chinese immigrants to fifteen in any one ship but the bill may find less favor in the senate. As the bill is drawn it may be defended as not in explicit contravention of our treaty with the Emperor of China. By treaty we have pledged ourselves that Chinese subjects visiting or residing in the United States shall enjoy the same privileges immunities and exemption in respect to travel or residence as may there be enjoyed by citizens or subjects of the most favored nations. Now the law does not abridge any of the immunities or exemptions of the Chinese who reside or travel here; it only regulates navigation and provides how many passengers may come on one ship. But of course it is intended to circumvent the treaty which course is taken in preference to a motion to abolish the treaty, because we presume the keen eyed Californians want to retain its advantageous effects while eager to relieve themselves of others. It is odd that Americans should at last become converts to the great policy of the Chinese wall. China has been dragged from her seclusion. Commerce has been forced down her throat. For ages isolated and desiring to maintain her isolation she was besieged with appeals for treaties till she made them and now that she ventures intercourse with other countries we also want to build a wall to keep her out. The Times is equally pronounced in its opposition. It says the fifteen passenger anti Chinese bill might be called by various titles which would more fully express its purpose than the designation which has been given it. The bill might, [illegible] says, be styled a [illegible] to manufacture political capital in California for the next election, which seems to be [illegible] judging from the declarations [illegible] Or the Times adds, [illegible] might be [illegible] bill to tickle the ears of the hoodlum groundlings [illegible] Chinese embassy in Washington. Or again it may be regarded as an act [illegible] ratification [illegible] Congress since both branches of that body have already passed an act looking to the restriction of Chinese immigration by the only courteous and honorable method—that of opening negotiations between the government of the United States and the government of China for a modification of the treaty under which that immigration is now [illegible] It should be worth [illegible] of the Congress of the United States to sacrifice the good faith and honor of the country to the supposed exigencies of California politics. Even continues the Times if no loftier considerations at all congress may do well to remember that there is no restriction that it can impose on trade or travel from China whether of a burdensome head money or of a limit in the number of passengers which China cannot apply in return upon American travel and trade to her ports. She may not limit herself in her method of retaliation to the [illegible] form of hostile [illegible] that suits us. She may choose some other form of business restriction and we have enough rivals in commerce with China who would encourage her in such a course. All these journals overlook or fail to see the real object of [illegible] continued immigrations of Chinese—a people who unlike any other foreigners coming to our shores remain foreigners always among us, cannot be assimilated with our population or become a part of our industrial or political system but press hard where they are found in large numbers upon the humbler class of our own working people who are essential as any others to national prosperity and strength. True enough there are multitudes of lazy loafers who wouldn't work if they had a chance declaiming against the Chinese and true enough also it is that no man of energy and enterprise should fear Chinese competition. But all persons have no enterprise and sagacity and may lack opportunity and know not how to create it. It would be idle to say that in places where the Chinese are found in large numbers their presence does not press hard upon these classes. Beyond doubt the political demagogues are making the most of this question but over and above this there is something in it. After all it is not wonderful that the eastern press is moved to opposition by such intemperate speakers as Kearney and by disgraceful treatment accorded the Chinese by the hoodlums of San Francisco.

CHADWICK ON THE STAND.

How honestly and intelligently our state affairs were managed during eight years so far as Mr Chadwick had to do with them may be seen by study of his testimony which we print to-day. Chadwick labored even harder than Cann not to tell. It is evident that he has within him that which fire would not melt out. He wouldn't answer anything directly. His replies were Bunsby isms. But he did by his manner succeed in making plain the methods his board pursued in the management of state lands and other affairs of administration. That management we know from his own statements was both loose and fraudulent. Nothing could be more shameful than the condition of things revealed by what was drawn out of him. Read his testimony so-called, and see in what way the public business was transacted. It is not strange at all that the state hasn't much left except its debts after such an administration had got done with it.

"Don't fail to read our dispatches," says the Standard. At the head of its string of "dispatches"—clipped from papers received by mail from the east—is one which it dates, Bismarck Feb 4th relating to the Northern Pacific railroad. This dispatch appeared in Chicago papers of Jan. 24th under date of "Bismarck Jan 23." So with the whole string of "dispatches" which the dishonest Standard presents daily under false dates to deceive readers. But such a paper has very few readers to deceive and under such policy is not likely to get more.

George W Smalley, London correspondent of the New York Tribune writes that Gen Grant's reception in Ireland outside of the Cork affair and official civilities was very cold, and that a very versatile and fertile journalist who has acted as a sort of civil and political aide-de-camp in his recent journeys works the press for him with untiring energy. The journalist referred to is J Russell Young correspondent of the Herald, who is writing up Gen Grant's trip around the world.

While state taxation in New Jersey is at the minimum nine cities have incurred debts amounting to over $35 000 000 and the taxation is so high that New Yorkers who were attracted thither a few years ago have been driven back. The time is at hand when municipal governments will learn that the surest way to attract capital and population is to impose light burdens on the people.

The testimony taken before the investigating committee which is now being presented through the columns of THE OREGONIAN makes interesting reading. It is transcribed from the official report.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

The farmers of Walla Walla county are greatly annoyed by squirrels.

A private telegram from Hon Thomas H Brents to a gentleman says: "I am trying very hard to get a report from the Pacific railroad committee embodying the main feature of the Republican platform and restoring the branch grant so as to have the road cross the mountains and to have the lands sold to settlers at $2 50 per acre." Have strong hope of success.

A Walla Walla paper says: Dr D S Baker arrived here last Tuesday from Portland having come from the Dalles with his own team. He says that part of the Walla Walla and Columbia River Railroad has been sold to Messrs Ainsworth Ladd & Co of Portland but that he retains an interest and the management of the road particularly of the contemplated extensions.

Walla Walla Union: From Dr Baker it is learned that he and his associates are going to extend the Walla Walla and Columbia River Railroad as rapidly as possible. The first point the company will try to reach will be Weston or vicinity. The engineers will go into the field in a few days to search for the most practicable route. By extending the road to Weston the company expect not only to transport the immense wheat yield of that region but to invite the trade of the Grand Ronde and Boise countries.

GONE FROM OUR GAZE—One by one the old landmarks of our city are passing from view Yesterday we noticed workmen engaged in removing the weather beaten sign of the old Oregon and California stage line that for years past has occupied a place over the windows of what was formerly the office of that company on Stark street Westward the star of empire has wended its way until its further progress has been stopped by the turbid waters that lash the western confines of our hemisphere The lumbering stage coach is a remembrance of the past with us, and the shrill echo of the steam whistle is rapidly taking the place of the startling crack of the driver's whip as we journey through the interior portions of our state

LEG BROKEN—John Paine while under the influence of liquor entered the office of the Occidental Hotel and commenced a tirade of abuse against Mr Thomas Smith one of the the proprietors In an attempt to eject the man from the premises a scuffle ensued in which Paine had his left leg broken and Mr Smith received a slight wound on his fore head Paine was carried to the St Charles where his leg was dressed and bound up by Dr Rex after which he was placed in a cab and conveyed to his room at the Clarendon Hotel

RIVER OBSTRUCTIONS

Some of our country papers have been very much concerned about the temporary obstruction to the navigation of the Columbia river during the recent short cold term The following from a late Philadelphia journal shows how trifling a matter our freeze up was compared with the delay experienced on the Delaware and the stoppage of the great fleet of vessels that were seeking the port of Philadelphia Arrivals at the breakwater continue to be numerous enough and would be so at Philadelphia if the river navigation were not so heavily clogged with ice The floe [illegible] at the Horse Shoe is very bad and at Chester the obstruction [illegible] No method of keeping the channel open at those points has yet been [illegible] from all present indications [illegible] to be [illegible] ice boats ought not to be used as tugs [illegible] spells as we have been experiencing they should be used simply as ice breakers All they can do as tugs is to take up and down a few ocean steamers Something must be done in earnest to keep the navigation open or else it will be [illegible] to make arrangements for a fleet of twenty five European steamers Congress cannot help us in this matter We must help ourselves as the city of Glasgow did with her harbor and its approaches

AMUSEMENTS.

POSTPONEMENT OF THE [illegible] CELEBRATED CAR.—Early yesterday handbills were circulated throughout the city notifying that the theater would not open until Monday next in consequence of the illness of little Maud Dr Ghiselin who attended the little lady yesterday gave as his opinion that it might be dangerous to subject her to the ordeal of playing last night At last accounts she was rapidly improving and it is to be hoped that she will be all right in a day or two Mr Maguire wishes it to be understood that parties who have secured their seats that the same numbers will hold good as they are on the diagram for Monday night, or can be changed for any subsequent night, or in the case of not being able to attend next week can have their money refunded at the box office The postponement is chiefly to be regretted on little Maudie's account and the news of her speedy recovery will be gladly received by every one

RESPITE FOR JOHNSON AND BROWN.

Yesterday afternoon at about 3 o'clock a dispatch was received in this city from Salem stating to Johnson and Brown, who were to have been hanged to morrow, that Governor Thayer had granted them a respite The receipt of this news did not particularly affect the prisoners except to give them spirit, Johnson being particularly cheerful The following dispatch from our correspondent at Salem confirms the statement in the first message

SALEM Feb 5

Governor Thayer this afternoon granted a reprieve to Johnson and Brown until sometime in March. The date is not yet known probably the 21st.

THE RYE VALLEY SILVER MINES.

That this mine is one of the most promising mines of Eastern Oregon appears to be the impression of everyone that has visited it It is a silver bearing quartz ledge right in the heart of an extensive [illegible] mining region well known to the early settlers of Oregon and worked for many years with [illegible] success This [illegible] was [illegible] a little while [illegible] prominent business men [illegible] ledge [illegible] yet unknown but it has been traced and opened at various places for about two miles and more than three fourths of a mile of which belongs to the above gentlemen who in consequence, have formed themselves into a mining company of the name of the Rye Valley Gold and Silver Mining Company The owners who have been anxious to thoroughly test the quality and richness of the mine have succeeded though the winter came on them before they could fairly commence to get the mill in first class one we are told into operation and though the ore which was taken almost from the surface of the ground and was taken to the mill was [illegible] for their first experiment [illegible] they have nevertheless succeeded to show a very fair result from their first clean up ten pounds of pure silver from about twelve tons of ore The rich ore lies in this mine as it does in every true vein in chimneys Ores taken from different chimneys in this mine have assayed from eighty to two thousand dollars per ton The pleasant news has just come to the company that the miners have again struck one of those chimneys the ore of which the superintendent believes will run about $400 to the ton He has sent a lot of specimens [illegible] mail to [illegible] here, the result of which we will try to ascertain and shall be glad to lay before our readers, for the reason that in every legitimate business enterprise which tends to develop the resources of Oregon we are and always shall be deeply interested

THE BIRD-CATCHER.

I walk along the woodland ways,
And up in fir and pine I gaze.
And oft enough the birds I see,
But none fly near to me.

They all appear to fly away
Whene'er my trap I chance to lay,
And empty handed, as I come,
I have to wend toward home.

I ought to see with grief and dread
How badly has my fowling sped;
But let it fall me as it will,
I am contented still.

One snare I have still left behind,
I never yet did empty find,
As glad the bird for it will make
As I the same shall take.

And when to-night my home is made,
For that bird shall my trap be laid.
That bird's name is my girl—my lap
Is that girl's very trap.

THE FAITHFUL GUEST.

There was something, I forget what, to take grandfather and grandmother away from home one day in October of the year I lived with them in Burn's Hollow. It may have been a funeral or some religious meeting, for they both drove off dressed in the gig, with old "Ajax" harnessed to it; and after I had tucked in grandma's iron-gray silk skirt and ran back to the house for grandpa's spectacles, and had seen the gig vanish in the distance, I felt lonely. Burn's Hollow was a lonesome, rambling mansion, which might have sheltered a regiment, had a ghostly air about it when one wandered through the upper rooms alone.

There were but two servants in the kitchen, Hannah Oakes and the Irish lad Anthony. I heard them laugh merrily together, for, though Hannah was an old woman, she was full of fun, and in five minutes the door opened and Hannah came with the tray.

"Please, miss," she said, as she set it down, "may I run over to Mapleton to-night? My sister's daughter had a boy last night, they say, and I want to see it, nat'rally—it's the first I've ever had of grand-niece or nephew."

"Who brought the news?" I asked.

"Anthony, Miss," said Hannah. "He met George—that's my niece's husband—when he was out after the cow, straying as she always is, and told him to tell Hannah 'she's a grandaunt.'"

"You may go," I said, "but don't stay late. Grandpa and grandma may be away all night, and I feel nervous. To be sure, there is Anthony, but I never rely on him. Be certain not to stay late." I repeated this injunction with a sort of fright stealing over me—a presentiment of evil, I might say—and something prompted me to add: "Be back at nine." Why, I can not say; but I felt as if by nine I should be in some peculiar danger.

Hannah promised, and after doing all I required, went away, and I heard her heavy shoes on the garden walk outside.

Early as it was, I had dropped the curtain and lighted the wax candles on the mantel, and I sat long after my tea, finding a certain companionship in it, as women of all ages will.

I sat thus a long time, and was startled from my reverie by a tap at the door—a timid sort of rap—so I knew at once that it was not a member of the house nor an intimate friend. I waited, expecting Anthony to open the door, but finding he did not, went to it myself.

It had grown quite dark, and the moon rose late that night. At first I could only make out a crouching figure at the bottom of the porch; but when I spoke it advanced, and by the light of the hall lamp I saw a black man. I had always had a sort of fear of a negro, and instinctively shrunk away, but as I did so he spoke in a husky whisper: "This is Massa Morton's, isn't it?"

"Yes," I replied, "but grandfather is out." I retreated as he advanced.

"Please, Miss," he said, "Judge B. sent me here. He said massa 'ud help me on. Let me stay here a' night, Miss. I's trabled five days since I left him, hidin' like. I's awful hungry. 'Pears like I'd drop, and ole massa's arter me. For de lub ob heaben, Miss, let me hide somewheres, and gib me jes' a crust. Massa Morton 'ud help me, and it's kept me up. Missus will, I know."

I knew that grandfather had given succor to some of these poor wretches before; but I felt that I might be doing wrong by admitting a stranger to the house, during his absence.

Caution and pity struggled with me. At last I said, "You have a note from the judge, I suppose, sir?"

"I had some writin' on a paper," said the man, "but I's lost it de night it rained so. Ah! Miss, I's tellin' de truff—judge sent me as sure as I's a sinner. I's been helped along so far, and 'pears like I may get to Canada. Can't go back noways. Wife dare and young uns. Got clear a year ago. Miss, I'll pray for you ebry day of my life ef you'll be so good to me. Tank you, Miss."

For somehow when he spoke of wife and children I had stepped back and let him in.

It was the back hall door to which the rap had come, and the kitchen was close at hand. I led him hither. When I saw how worn he was, how wretched and how his eyes glistened, and how his heart beat under his rough blue shirt, so that you could count the pulses, I forgot my caution. I brought out cold meat and bread, drew a mug of cider, and spread them on the table. The negro ate, and I went to find Anthony, to whom I intended to give directions for his lodging throughout the night.

To my surprise, Anthony was nowhere about the house or garden.

Hannah must have taken him with her across the lonely road to Mapleton.

It was natural, but I was angry.

Yet I longed for Hannah's return, and listened very anxiously until the clock struck nine. Then, instead of her footsteps, I heard the patter of raindrops and the rumbling thunder, and looking out saw a heavy storm was coming on.

Now, certainly, grandpa and grandma would not come, and Hannah, waiting for the storm to pass, would not be here for hours. However, my fear of the negro was quite gone, and I felt a certain pride in myself in conducting myself bravely under these trying circumstances.

Accordingly I went up stairs, found in the attic sundry pillows and bolsters, and carried them kitchenward.

"Here," said I, "make yourself a bed on the settee yonder, and be easy for the night. No one will follow you in such a terrible storm as this, and no doubt grandpa will assist you when he returns home. Good night."

"Good night, and God bless you, Miss," still speaking in a very husky whisper. And so I left him.

But I did not go up stairs to my bedroom. I intended for that night to remain dressed, and sit up in grandpa's arm-chair, with candles and a book for company. Therefore I locked the door, took the most comfortable position, and opening a volume composed myself to read.

Reading, I fell asleep. How long I slept I cannot tell. I was awakened by a low sound like the prying of a chisel.

At first it mixed with my dreams so completely that I took no heed of it, but at last I understood that some one was at work upon the lock of the door.

I sat perfectly motionless, the blood curdling in my veins, and still chip, chip, went the terrible little instrument, until at last I knew whence the sound came.

Back of the sitting room was grandpa's study. There, in a great, old-fashioned chair, were stored the family plate, grandma's jewelry, and sundry sums of money and valuable papers. The safe itself stood in a closet where the thief was now at work.

The thief—and, without doubt, the negro I had fed and sheltered.

Perhaps the next act would be to murder me if I listened. The storm was still raging, but though the road was lonely, better that than this house with such horrible company. I couldn't save my grandfather's property, but I could save my own life.

I crept across the room and into the hall and to the door. There, softly as I could, I unfastened the bars and bolts. But, alas! one was above my reach. I waited and listened. Then I moved a hall chair to the spot and climbed upon it. In doing so, I struck my shoulder against the door frame.

It was a slight noise, but at that moment the chip of the chisel stopped. I heard a gliding foot, and, horror of horrors, a man came in from the study, sprung toward me, and clutched me with both hands, holding my arms as in a vice, while he hissed in my ear: "You'd tell, would you? You'd call help? You might better have slept, you had; for, you see, you've got to pay for waking. I'd rather hev let a chick like you off; but you know me now, and I can't let you live."

I stared in his face with horror mingled with an awful surprise; for now that it was so close to me I saw, not the negro, but our own hired man, Anthony—Anthony, whom I had supposed to be miles away with Hannah. He was little more than a youth, and I had given him many a present, and had always treated him well.

I pleaded with him kindly.

"Anthony, I never did you any harm; I am young; I am a girl. Don't kill me, Anthony. Take the money; don't kill me, for poor grandma's sake."

"You'll tell on me," said Anthony, doggedly; "likely I'd be caught. No, I have got to kill you."

As he spoke he took his hands from my shoulders and clutched my throat fiercely.

I had time to utter one suffocating shriek, then I was struggling, dying, with sparks in my eyes, and a sound of roaring water in my ears, and then—what had sprung upon my assassin, with the swift silence of a leopard? What had clutched me from behind, and stood over him with something glittering above his head? The mist cleared away—the blurred mist that had gathered over my eyes; as sight returned I saw the negro with his foot upon Anthony's breast.

The fugitive whom I had housed and fed had saved my life.

Then ten minutes after—ten minutes in which, but for that poor slave's presence, I would have been hurried out of life—the rattle of wheels and the tardy feet of old "Ajax" were heard without, and my grandparents were with me.

It was needless to say that we were not ungrateful to our preserver, needless, also, to tell Anthony's punishment.

It came out during his trial that he had long contemplated the robbery; that, the absence of my grandparents appearing to afford an opportunity, he had decoyed Hannah away with a lie, and hid in the study. He knew nothing of the negro's presence in the house, and, being naturally superstitious, had actually fancied my protector a creature from the other world, and submitted without a struggle.

Long ago—so we heard—the slave, a slave no longer, met his wife and children beyond danger, and, now that the bonds are broken for all in this free land, doubtless his fears are over, and he sits beside his humble Canadian hearth when eventide comes.

LONDON, Feb. 4—3.30 P. M.—Consols 96 5-16, money; [illegible] account.

The business situation is not materially changed. Monetary matters remain in the same quiet condition, with a full supply of available funds in bank, but no special causes are in operation to enhance the volume of capital in general circulation.

No more activity prevails in the breadstuffs market than was noticed yesterday, exporters being as much as ever opposed to advance prices, while holders are, if anything, still firmer in their views and no more inclined to make concessions.

We are in receipt of a trade circular from a Liverpool house, in which the present and prospective condition of the salmon trade is set forth in no very encouraging light. It says:

With gigantic strides the packing of this article on the Columbia river alone, has, in 11 years, advanced from less than 6,000 cases (in 1866) to over 420,000 cases (in 1878), and there are now on that river from 30 to 32 canneries of a combined capacity of over 500,000 cases. The packing in this district is this year announced as between 20,000 and 25,000 cases ahead of 1877, and footing up to over 420,000 cases. The Frazer river and district generally contribute this season between 70,000 and 80,000 cases from about a dozen canneries. No definite statistics have been received as to the Sacramento up-put, but with a reputed capacity of 100,000 cases on the part of one cannery alone, we think we are safely within the mark in reckoning that figure for the total pack of the river, especially should the canners have taken due advantage of the enormous fall run of fish announced in September. We are of opinion that when the exact totals of the entire Pacific coast are disclosed, the combined up-put will be found to have exceeded considerably 600,000 cases.

In respect of 1878 quality of salmon, we fear less attention has been paid to the preparation, the lower prices anticipated having encouraged some packers to attempt by short weight of fish and other means to meet a lessened return. The rubbish packed by one or two firms will do much to turn public taste from the article, and the practice cannot be too severely condemned.

Without laying ourselves open to a charge of pessimism, we must say that we still take, as we have done, a despondent view of the market for this article. Low prices will be a disappointment to many, but we hardly see why packers should have yielded to any demands of fishermen, or to other actions likely to increase production cost. We regret if the loss will fall heavily on first hands, but should not sympathize if speculators suffered severely. Consideration should have been paid to the low figures which had to be accepted in the best part of the season, on the English market, for parcels of best brands. The attempt to bolster up the market by storing 1877 fish in San Francisco proved abortive, and the goods had ultimately to be shipped to the United Kingdom at increased cost of storage and handling, and to a fallen market.

The entire quantity of salmon arrived and afloat from Pacific coast this season to United Kingdom is over 400,000 cases, as against about 250,000 cases last year. It must be remembered, however, that about 50,000 cases were stored in San Francisco last year, and not shipped till later than the present time. Columbia river has more than hitherto been her own exporter, shipping direct to the United Kingdom this season 212,838 cases, as against 124,500 cases last year, and San Francisco shipments have proportionately decreased. From Vancouver, B. C., one ship has sailed direct for London with over 35,000 cases, and another with a quantity not much under this figure.

In conclusion, we would say that it is apparent that a crisis has been reached in the market for this article, and further developments are watched with considerable interest.

The canneries on the Columbia are somewhat over-estimated, their total capacity being less than the amount stated by about 150,000 cases, nor is it likely that any of them will be run to their utmost capacity during the coming season.

As our dispatches state, another vessel, the British bark Runnymede, bound for Oregon, has been totally wrecked.

The steamship Idaho, hence for San Francisco, will sail at 5 A. M. Sunday.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN.

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Difficult Diseases.

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations,

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female. He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease, in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease, mentally and physically, he has restored them to health and happiness, for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness.

DR. BRENAN has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases: Catarrh, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and chest, by an entirely new system only known to himself. Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, including Spermatorrhea, Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood. In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world-wide reputation by his astonishing success, not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States. Diseases of the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of, and never fails to give relief at once, and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time.

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints, and understands their delicate and refined organization, as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health.

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE over most physicians—he can tell the patients' disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual. This accounts in part for his great professional success.

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand, and the patient need not fear the result.

DR. BRENAN will send to those living at a distance and who can not well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally, and will forward the proper medicines, or instruments, to any part of the country with full instructions and advice. Each letter requiring advice or list of questions, must contain two postage stamps.

Everything strictly confidential and honorable.

THE DOCTOR has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia, as more than one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify.

CAUTION. Persons coming to Portland, requiring medical treatment of the proper kind, who desire to consult with me, will please beware of persons who may try to coax them away to other so-called Doctors, through pretended friendship for the patients. Look out for them; they are knaves, prompted by selfish motives and what they can make. Be sure and ask for DR. PAUL M. BRENAN, the Medical Lecturer, and read his sign on his door.
